Learning outcome

During the event I learned about communication (how to communicate more efficiently). Getting to know better the background of the group members. How to divide tasks according to skills, knowledge as well as to anticipate that things sometimes could go wrong and at this moment is important to stay calm and think of alternative solution.

Strengths

During the event I found myself playing the mind games and some of the skill ones in order to gain chips that later could be used for ordering stuffs for the Mario cart parts and some other modifications. During the time I was competing with others, I came across games I never heard of and there I had to choose different approaches, try out what works and what does not (facing different challenges differently).

Improvements

For the next time I could improve my general knowledge concerning different fields, so that I could be more helpful to my team. Another thing is that I should focus more on communicating with my team, what is expected from me and what is the state (progress) of the team.

Attitude

It was necessary for me to be open-minded and ready to adapt, since working with other people often requires adaptation and inevitably a mindset for collaboration (expressing ideas, evaluating plans and planning execution).
