

This is IT

By: Simeon Markov

Date: 1/21/26

Introduction

The purpose of this document is to reflect my experience during the This is IT event, struggles I came across and possible future improvements.

Personal experience

The overall event went fine; we were preparing ourselves for showing our product. One think that I found intimidating was borrowing necessary tech from ISSD (like monitor), because most of the things were already borrowed, so I came with an alternative solution by borrowing a projector. And then I set up the projector and adjusted it, so that we can have a better angle to project. At the end it all worked.

What I could have done better

I should have reacted faster and planned in advanced to reserve a monitor to showcase our project, which could have saved us some time in preparing our stand.

Conclusion

I learned that anticipating, planning in advance some things could save you considerable amount of time, leaving room for some other small adjustments and improvements.